Automated Categorization & Document Integration for ADP® Recruiting Management

Capture, categorize and sync new hire documents in ADP® Recruiting Management with existing HR applications.

Docufree Document Connector for ADP RM provides fully automated document categorization and integration between ADP® Recruiting Management and the HR applications your people use everyday. As new hire documents are created or added in ADP RM, Docufree Document Connector collects, categorizes and syncs documents on-demand to the correct destination in your other HR systems.

It's the bridge between isolated new hire documents and complete, unified employee records—helping you meet retention, privacy and security requirements while improving access to the information your workforce needs, when and where they need it, without hours of manual work.
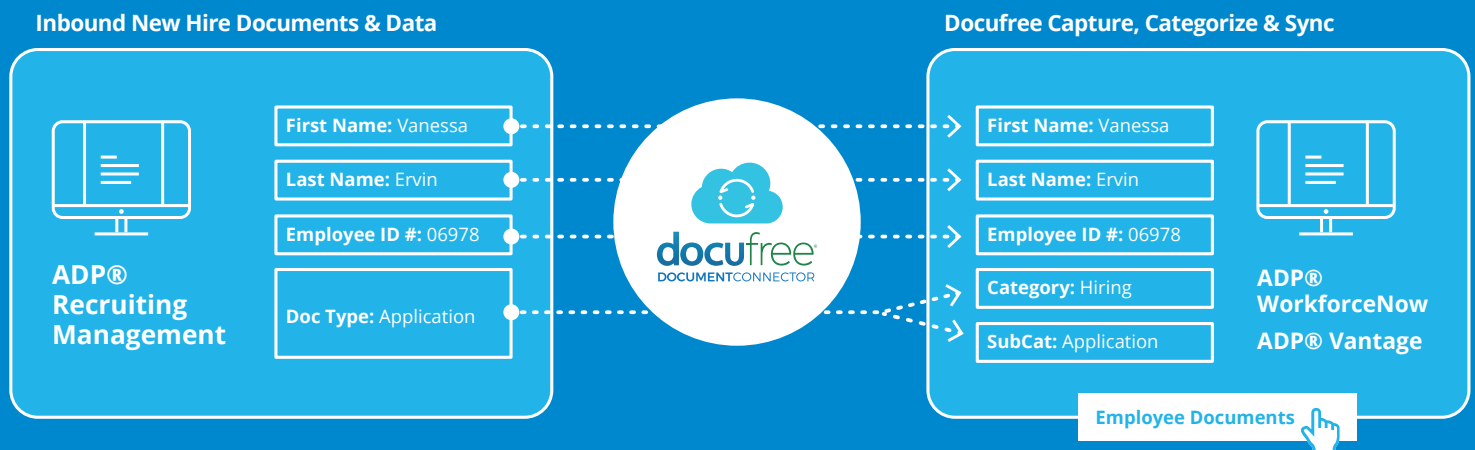

How Docufree Document Connector for ADP RM works:

Capture: Automatic retrieval of documents as they are created or added in ADP® Recruiting Management

Categorize: Automatic classification of each document by type, according to your category and subcategory structure

Synchronize: Automatic upload of the document and document properties (category/subcategory) to the correct final destination in your other HR applications

BENEFITS

- Give your workforce access to new hire documents from the applications they prefer to use everyday

- Keep documents consistently categorized according to your rules for quick search and retrieval

- Bring employee records together into one central, secure location

- Easily integrate documents with zero human effort

- Be up and running in minutes without complex technical requirements
